“ I have very fond memories going to my grandparents house on Christmas, Thanksgiving, family reunions and just visiting. The aroma of the food we ate, playing with my cousins, enjoying the company of my aunts and uncles, and the big hugs from my grandparents. When I think of my grandfather I think of a hard-working, quiet, strong and loving family man. I know he is now at peace and in heaven with my grandmother. I will miss going to visit them when we go to West Virginia, that is always one of the first places we go. They would always welcome us with open arms as if we never left and that will be greatly missed. They were the matriarch in the patriarch of our family and their love will live on through their children, grandchildren, great great grandchildren, and great great great grandchildren. Until we meet again I will miss you and I love you.

“ My thoughts and prayers are with the Shrewsbury family as they go thru this difficult time. I met Mr. Shrewsbury 44 years ago thru members of his family. He was respected by everyone he met as you never heard anyone say anything negative about him. What you heard was he was a hard-working family man. In life and in death a person's legacy lives thru their children as does his. They work hard, have good moral character and strong family ties and they were taught those values at home by their mother and dad. As a family, they took care of their parents at 99 and 105 years old without using outside care and nursing homes and that alone tells you they were taught strong values. To all of them, I send my prayers knowing you are relieved that his suffering has ended and once again he is united with your mother. As you say goodbye keep in mind there is a reunion going on in heaven like no other and your memories of him will be in your heart till you join that reunion. Love you all.

“ Grandpa was a humble loving man and I will always remember him sitting quietly in his swing listening and watching us. I know he would want us all to focus on the happiness in our lives and to love each other and to keep our family together as close as we were when both he and grandma were with us. Grandpa I will miss you. I will hang on to the many wonderful memories until we meet again. Love and prayers to all. Brenda
