“ I had read about a Faye Graham who had passed in 2009 an I thought it was this Faye had I known I would have been to her house enjoying her company and crocheting. Faye taught me when I was 9 years old how to crochet an I still do to this day. My sister sent me this and it hit me like a ton of bricks, had I known I would have brought my 4 year daughter Willow down to her house to get to know her like I did. I lived in the old white an brick house across from Faye I was one of the Pendergrass girls, I enjoyed every minute I had with Faye. I loved her beyond words after my parents passed was when I looked up Faye an found an obituary I should have looked harder. Thank you for teaching me what you loved to do because I love it still. I still have the first crochet hook Faye every gave me my heart is broken thinking about all the time I could have spent with her. Well I loved you then an I love you now I have mourned you twice now but this time I know it's really you an that hits harder. Your little girl Julie Pendergrass
