“ Mamaw was one of the strongest, most selfless and loving people I have ever known. She loved taking care of people and did so her whole life. She instilled in her family not only her love but the love of God our father. Rodney and I were blessed. Every day we worked our children, Kel and Blake, were in the loving care of Mamaw. She would never take money for taking care of the kids. She would hug them up tight and say "give me my million dollars". They would smile big and she would say, "now there's my payday". As her health declined I had the honor and privilege of helping take care of her. My mom was her rock and was by her side every day and night. My dad was at the end of her bed, my mom on one side and I on the other when she told her last breath.... I looked up at my mom who lovingly smiled at Mamaw and said she's gone. It was at that moment I realized I was now looking at the strongest, most selfless and loving woman in the world. Mamas raised the perfect mom for me. I will miss you forever.
