I will miss my beloved Grandmother. Today they laid her to rest in the beautiful hills of West Virginia. If only I could have been there. My heart is broken but also rejoicing. She is on a much better place with my grandfather and all of her family that went before her.

“ When I was a child, I went to the Church of God on the mountain. I remember Mrs. Richards giving the treasurer's report. Such a godly lady. Her seat in the church was never empty. I wish things could be that simple and pure again. Losing the church on the mountain ended an era for all of us. Singing conventions, hotdog sales, and Christmas programs, are just a few of the great memories I have of that little mountain church. Hard to imagine moving it to another location would benefit the people that worked so diligently to build it. Another example of allowing the desires of a few to impact many others. Many generations grew up in that church. I think Mrs. Richards was the last of the original holy ladies that was the back bone of the Clarks Gap Church of God. She will be remembered fondly by those of us that knew her as the great person she was.

“ She will be missed by so many. Another Angel in Heaven, but it is sad that she is one less praying for those of us left behind. I will cherish sitting by her bedside and looking at that sweet face and angelic smile. I can only imagine the sights she is beholding. Walking on streets of gold. Shouting in Heaven such a wonderful woman finally home.
