Linda and I met in 1979, I needed a babysitter and she needed a job. She moved in with me and she was great with my 3 daughters. She found a job and worked part time, while I worked full time and she was always home before me and my girls did not have to come to an empty house. Since this is New Years Eve, I have to share this story. She took me to the Dry Dock Inn for a New Years Party. She would not dance with me, because I am 5'2 and she said people would see her dancing by herself, as they would not see me. So I got a chair and pulled it to the middle of the floor and I tapped her on the shoulder. Well I will never forget the look on her face when I saw her turn around. She burst out in laughter and had to sit down. We had so much fun that night, we giggled every time we looked at each other. Thank you Linda for being with me when I was so lonely and you brought so much fun into my life and my family.

“ I knew Linda in elementary school. Linda befriended me while I was still very shy and quiet, choosing to hang out with me and make me feel part of everything. Soon, I was able to make other friends, but Linda and I remained close for some time. I lost touch with her after a while, but I never forgot her generous smile and hearty laugh. She had a way of making people feel special, even at such a young age. Rest, my friend. I have thought of you often in past years before finding you again, and I will continue to think of you in the future.

“ I met Linda probably about 11 yrs. ago when she moved from New Jersey with her son Travis and moved in with my brother in Clarksville, VA. She was really like a sister-in-law to me. My mom and I thought a lot of her. My brother passed away five years ago and we kept in touch with Linda when she move to West Virginia. May you rest in peace my dear friend.

“ *I can truly say that during Senior Year of High School,
Linda was my Best Friend.
At times we Laughed so Hard we Cried.
At times we Cried so Hard it Hurt.
Most times we were Good.
Sometimes we were Bad.
(I was the one who always got caught and Grounded)
And she always waited for me to get Ungrounded,
so we could go start a new adventure.
We even went to the Army Recruiter together,
so we could start a Big New Adventure.
Who knew the Army had a Height Requirement.
She was too Tall.
I guess the Army just doesn't make extra tall Uniforms.
Go Figure.
We were heart broken that we were going to be split apart.
That's where our story ended for decades.
Then along comes POGO, and FaceBook.
I was so Happy we got to Reconnect again.
We even made plans to share a Hotel Room for our Next Class Reunion in October of 2014.
I was Thrilled that I was going to be able to See Her again.
But this is just a Little Bump in the Road for us.
It might take a few more decades,
but we will meet again.
I Promise....*

“ Linda and I met online about ten years ago and she was one of the few people who was just herself. There was no pretend or lies or phoniness and we shared with each other like we were family. At the time Travis was sad so we arranged for him to contact Santa's personal yahoo account and Linda said it helped give him a new outlook. Yes Travis that was me you were talking to and through your mom I watched you grow up. Your mom did a wonderful job raising you into the fine young man you are today and I know she is smiling down from heaven beaming with joy.
Linda you travelled a long hard road and your legacy will live on.
rest now my friend and bask in gods love and peace

“ Linda and I were friends since the 3rd grade, there are so many memories. I guess the one I think of most is that the two of us used to always see who could get our work done the quickest in 6th grade. Our work probably suffered..lol We had a lot of fun together.
RIP my friend

“ Linda and I were friends since the 3rd grade. I was there when Travis was born. I remember when she decided to come home from AZ, I flew out there and we drove back. Travis, I love you, but you would not stay in your seat belt and one of us had to stay in the back seat with you. You kept trying to open the car door while we were driving. We did spend most of the holidays together. I feel that I am a better person having her in my life for so long. Rest in peace, I love you my friend.
