“ As my cousin, Lowell was a special friend to me. We both grew up together having close ties to coal mining. I believe his brother Dale and my Dad both worked at Herndon together many years ago. Although we walked through this life down slightly different paths, Lowell and I became close in recent years when we were able to talk and share life experiences with each other at the Lashmeet Market and at his place out on the ridge. Lowell had a wonderful personality, a kind heart and a pleasant way of talking with and developing friendships with others. I remember him asking me to help carry some groceries out to a car for a lady during a heavy rainstorm. His concern for her impressed me and I've never forgotten it! It has been a great honor for me to know Lowell for he was a great example of how God would have us treat each other, I believe. May he now have a peaceful rest from the struggles he has endured in recent years. In deepest sympathy, ralph sanders
