“ I am the youngest child of Mary Chambers. I didn't like being introduced as her baby as an adult, but that is how she introduced me. My mom loved dogs. I love how she had such a love for her dogs. She told me how the five you poodles she had when she moved back to West Virginia from Maryland in 1986 followed her at the rest stops without even having to on a leash. My mom could make Barbie Doll clothes, bake, write poetry, and she even wrote and recorded a song titled, "Baby" She sung about me being her baby. My mom had a silliness that was endearing. I am who I am because of her. May she rest in peace.

That should have been, "Five toy poodles." I wish I could have went to the service. I am thankful that I was able to say good-bye at her bedside. I prayed with you, played worship songs as she lay there and she moved her mouth along with the words playing on the youtube video on my phone. I kept playing the songs for the next two days as the nurses said she could hear me. I kept kissing her and telling her I loved her, but Jesus loves her more. I was kissing her forehead as she took her last breath. She had a peaceful expression as she was no longer in pain, but in her Savior's arms.
