“ Nancy was one of my older cousins and once on a family trip to Hershey Park she talked me into riding the Comet roller coaster (like Aunt Nellie she loved to ride them). On the first drop of the ride, I was ready for the ride to end. Since I was maybe 9 or 10, I was able to slip under the bar and get on the floor. She held me by the back of my shorts for the entire ride as I stayed on the floor. My panic-stricken mother thought I had been flung off the ride since she couldn't see me, but Nancy was my guardian angel that day and brought me safely back on solid ground.

"The love of a family is life's greatest blessing"- no truer words were never spoken. Rest in Peace-
